The Great Northwest Featured.

In charge of M. A. Begg, with C. J. Winbauer as assistant, the Northern Pacific demonstration car was opened to visitors Friday.

The exhibits are well worthy of careful inspection, presenting as they do, presumably the best examples of the seven States of Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon, which are crossed by the Northern Pacific railroad. Included in the specimens are some grown by natural rainfall, some by irrigation and some by dry farming. Besides a large number of specimens of grain, potatoes, apples, etc., in glass cases, more than 150 large glass jars of fruit, some of them four or more feet in height, are displayed attractively.

Potatoes weighing as much as four pounds and apples weighing a pound, peaches as large as a double fist, stools of oats seven feet tall and with 150 spears of grain to the stool, wheat which averaged 45 to 50 bushels to the acre for a period of ten years, big pears, plums and nectarines, celery three or more feet tall as thick in the stalk as a boy's leg, onions weighing as high as one and one-half pounds, spring rye six and a half feet high, salmon from Washington of 30 to 40 pounds weight, game fish from Minnesota, Montana and Washington, cauliflower from Minnesota bigger than a man's head, prize oats six feet tall and alfalfa seven feet tall, milo maize, yam-fir corn, delicious celery from Washington, hops from Washington and Oregon, the leading State in the Union in growing this product, and many other things are shown.

One of the chief exhibits is a little jar of turkey red wheat, which brought to its owner a traction engine worth $5,000. This wheat won the first prize at the Minnesota land show, and averaged 30.33 bushels to the acre; weighed 63 pounds to the bushel.

The car containing the exhibits is a huge one, 75 feet long, 14 feet high and 10 feet wide. It carries its own gas plant and has sleeping quarters for the gentlemen in charge. It has been on the road for over two and a half months and will be out for three months and a half longer. The car is in Lexington today and tomorrow.

We're marching on to Washington. A hundred thousand strong. We've waited for a slice of pie For years that have been long; So cut the pastry, Woody, quick, And hand it out to us— For if you don't we tell you now, There'll be a h—l of a fuss!

In Memory of J. J. Todd.

John Joseph Todd was born February 11, 1877, and died February 8, 1913, at his home near Terrell.

Deceased was 70 years of age, lacking three days. He professed faith in our Savior. His early life and was baptized into the fellowship of Bearwallow Baptist church by S. V. Potts. After some years he moved his membership to Viney Fork church, where he lived a consistent Christian life. Brother Todd was united in wedlock with Miss America V. Finney, Nov. 16, 1904, which proved to be a happy union. His wife preceded him to the great beyond three years ago, leaving to her husband the brightest of visions of the beautiful mansions prepared for them while under his and affliction, to brighten his pathway to that sweet land beyond. He leaves four children with their families to mourn the loss of a loving father, two sons and two daughters—Mr. J. D. Todd, Mrs. Eluch Murray; Seth M. Todd, of this county, and John K. Todd, of Montgomery county.

It is a sad thought to know that these sad afflictions shall be washed out, and if his voice could be heard, there would be no more weeping. How sad it is to give him up, although he bore his suffering with patience and said he was ready to go, and asked his loved ones not to grieve that he was going home, where there was no pain. His remains were laid to rest in Richmond cemetery on Monday, Feb. 10.

A precious one from us has gone, A voice we loved is stilled, A place is vacant in the home That never can be filled.

To Prevent Extortions.

Congressman Ben Johnson, Chairman of the House District of Columbia Committee, has introduced a bill to prevent hotels and restaurants from skimming visitors to the inauguration by providing that the same rates shall prevail during the inaugural period as were in force during the year prior to February 25, 1913, and if it passes he will further endeavor himself, not only to his constituents but to the country at large.

These establishments, as well as others at the capital, have usually combined to fleece the visitors to the inauguration unmercifully, and it is reported that this time the rates have been doubled and tripled by the Skylocks that fatten on other people's necessities. As a large number of Kentuckians will go to see democracy come into its own, it was in keeping with Mr. Johnson's ideas of right for him to introduce the resolution. Its passage will further endeavor him to the people and those who want to see the long-desired consummation of their hopes without giving up all of their patrimony. He could not have touched a more popular chord or one that will produce greater acclaim, and those who profit by it will honor his name and sing his praises. As Mr. Johnson is practically Governor of the District of Columbia, what he says will likely go and all of us will say "Amen."

A favorable report has already been made on the bill, which provides for a penalty of $100 for each violation, in addition to the expenses of the complainant, should he be forced to remain to prosecute the defendant.—W. P. Walton in Lexington Herald.

Former Madisonian Takes His Pen Hand.

St. Matthews, Ky., Feb. 12th.

Dear Sirs:— Being a subscriber of the Climax, I realize that you have succeeded into a twice-a-week edition, and thinking that you might appreciate a little news from me, I will pen you a few lines.

Being Madison county born, I feel interested in her and like to hear from her splendid people. I left there the last time in 1910, and am now located at this place, where I am connected with the L. & N. as station agent and operator.

This is a thriving little town, or rather a suburb. Only one mile from the Louisville city limits, with prospects good for its being taken in by the city in the near future.

We have a bank, one of the strongest in the county, postoffice, three stores, with saloons attached, telephone, ice factory, produce exchange, blacksmith shop and soon, and also churches and good schools. Land is too high here to talk about. We are in close touch with the city, in as much as we have street cars, one or two each way every 15 minutes. We bring on the line over which the Shelbyville, LaGrange and Pewee Valley cars pass. The L. & N. and C. & O. together run 20 passenger trains every 12 hours and about the same number of freight trains.

This is a great potato country, also a good many onions are grown during the season which begins in July and ends about the last of September, with a few scattering shipments up to the present time. We have shipped from here 255 cars of potatoes, this being the largest potato shipping point in this section. During the season we ship as many as 20 to 25 cars per day.

With every one scrambling for office under the new administration, we have a pretty busy little town.

Very Truly, W. R. FARRIS.

AFTER four centuries similar scenes are enacted in the streets of Mexico. Then it was Cortez, with less than two hundred men, planting an old cannon in the street and clearing the way to Montezuma's place. The shrewd young Spaniard infused into the inhabitants of that land the spirit of antagonism, creating warring factions, which resulted in the downfall of the Aztec empire. And all through these centuries that spirit of antagonism has continued its existence, until today Mexico's people are no further removed from the trail of the serpent than they were four hundred years ago. A divided nation, and warring factions almost to the point where they would see their country pass into other hands than give up this heritage that has grown hourly with age. Again this spirit of antagonism has taken such a firm grip upon the country, that once again the cannons are planted in the streets of the capital city, and amid the thunders of war the palace is fired upon and the streets are spattered with human gore. The nation is really to be pitied, and the United States could render no higher service than exercising its good offices in aiding that divided people to lay down their arms and join in a united effort to build up their country that has had more than two hundred years of disintegrating, internal war. It is a sad, sad fact that neither Madero nor Diaz can preside over the country in the peaceful manner desired, and a new man should be sought out and elected to fill the presidential chair.

MEMBERS of the inaugural committee are beginning to show signs of nervousness over the event of the problem presented by the unexpected growth of the procession of March 4th, which promises to be the longest inaugural parade that ever passed down Pennsylvania avenue. Although more than a half million men in the line already have been received, it is feared that further requests will make the task of marching men and horses hard to direct. The civic portion of the parade alone will aggregate 20,000 men, according to a partial list drawn up by the committee. This division is being augmented every day, and by inauguration day may be doubled. To date it is announced that the State of Ohio has ordered all other sending representatives for the procession and the inaugural ceremonies. Formal notification was received by the committee that the entire Ohio Legislature will adjourn for several days and go to Washington in a body.

He never lied

Listen!

We've got sense enough to know that Success in business goes with honest dealing.

George Washington has the greatest reputation of any American, because he never lied. Truthfulness and fearlessness made him the leader of our nation in war and in peace. George the Third caused the separation of the United States from England because he demanded an unjust tax. In our business we have followed George Washington—not George III.

We have never misrepresented anything we have sold and have never been afraid to carry upright merchandise, and never asked unjust prices. We will sell you ten dollars worth for ten dollars.

FEBRUARY 18, 1913

After four centuries similar scenes are enacted in the streets of Mexico. Then it was Cortez, with less than two hundred men, planting an old cannon in the street and clearing the way to Montezuma's place. The shrewd young Spaniard infused into the inhabitants of that land the spirit of antagonism, creating a warlike faction, which resulted in the downfall of the inhabitants, and making himself master of the country. And all through these centuries this spirit of antagonism has continued its existence, until today Mexico's people are no further removed from the trail of the serpent than they were four hundred years ago. A divided nation, and warring factions almost to the point where they would see their country pass into other hands than give up this heritage that has grown heavy with age. Again this spirit of antagonism has been such a firm grip upon the country that once again the cannons are planted in the streets of the capital city, and amidst the clashing of war the palace is fired upon and the streets are smeared with human gore. The nation is ready to be pitted, and the United States could render no higher service than exercising its good offices in aiding that divided people to lay down their arms and join in a united effort to build up their country that has had more than two hundred years of disintegrating, interfering war. It is a self-evident fact that neither Madero nor Diaz can preside over the country in the peaceful manner desired, and a new man should be sought out and elected to fill the presidential chair.

As income tax amendment to the constitution of the United States would add $100,000,000 to the revenue of the country, according to figures compiled by Representative Cordell Hall, of Tennessee. The details of the bill to be presented to Congress are being worked out by Mr. Hall, who is a member of the Ways and Means committee.

HENRY WATSON, editor of the Courier-Journal, dean of American journalism and the ablest editorial writer in the United States, celebrated his 72nd birthday Sunday. May the grand old lion live to celebrate many more such occasions and continue to wield his trenchant pen in defense of home and native land.

JUDGE ALICE W. YOUNG is doing a splendid work as special judge of the Breach circuit court. He is clearing up things generally and fighting treason in high as well as low places. A pity it is that the judge had not been sent to that lawless section sooner.

DENNY GRAVES, a 14-year old Carlisle boy, is a sure enough bootlegger. When arrested on a charge of selling whisky at his home, it was found that he had a gallon of whisky in bottles in the legs of a large pair of boots he wore.

ONLY fifteen days more of the republican administration. Having stood the ordeal for many years, we ought to be able to put up with it for a couple of weeks longer, as hard as it may be.

Don't forget the free lecture at the Court-House tonight. Mr. Stiebler, noted Christian Scientist, will deliver it. You are extended a cordial invitation to attend.

Adjudged Insane. Mr. Mark Tudor, who has been confined in the Ohio State Prison for several years, was tried before a jury in Judge Shackelford's court yesterday. He was ordered to the asylum.

He never lied. Listen! We've got sense enough to know that Success in business goes with honest dealing.

George Washington has the greatest reputation of any American, because he never lied. Truthfulness and fearlessness made him the leader of our nation in war and in peace.

George the Third caused the separation of the United States from England because he demanded an unjust tax. In our business we have followed George Washington—not George III.

We have never misrepresented anything we have sold and have never been afraid to carry upright merchandise, and never asked unjust prices. We will sell you ten dollars worth for ten dollars.

The Vulcan Chilled Plow : Long Past The Experimental Stage

It is considered by users as the best CHILLED PLOW manufactured. Superior construction of the best material by competent mechanics is responsible for its Strength, Durability, Light Draft, and Steady Running. To the four qualities are due its increasing popularity with the farmer and consequent increased sale by the dealer. It costs less to keep a "Vulcan" in good running order than any other make of Chilled Plow. Why? Not because Vulcan Plows and Repairs cost less than others, but because the Durability and Wearing Qualities of the Vulcan parts are greater.

A FEW FEATURES

Landside, Saddle and Point are interlocked. Prevents straining out of shape. Moldboard is rib strengthened, reducing mold breakage to the minimum. Shit Piece, Full Chilled, Always Sharp, Very Durable. Point is of Charcoal Iron, has patented extension face and wide edge chill. It is the strongest, best wearing, most economical chilled point made. Do not forget the Corrugated Point. Stays sharp longer, wears better, plows hard ground easier, and costs no more than a plain point. It makes no difference how much a farmer PAYS for a plow, provided he gets his money's worth.

Old Age.

Old age as it comes in the ordinary process of nature is a beautiful and majestic thing. It stands for experience, knowledge, wisdom, counsel. That is old age as it should be. But old age as it often is means poor digestion, torpid bowels, a sluggish liver and a general feeling of ill health, despondency and misery. This is almost every instance is wholly unnecessary. One of Chamberlain's Tablets taken daily after supper will improve the digestion, tone up the liver and regulate the bowels. That feeling of despondency will give way to one of hope and cheer. L. Terrill for re-election to the office of County Clerk. His record is open for the closest inspection. 1f cannot properly masticate solid foods and digestion is often upset—they do not receive the needed nourishment to make strength and preserve health, but if aged people everywhere could only realize the strength—restoring nourishment in Scott's Emulsion they would take it after every meal.

It possesses the nourishing elements of cod liver oil, the vital powers of the hypophosphates of lime and soda and the curative qualities of glycerine, all perfectly combined that nature immediately appropriates them to create strength—nourish the organs and build the body. It relieves rheumatism and ailments due to declining years. It adds to the span of life. Refuse substitutes for SCOTT'S. Scott & Bowers, Bloomfield, N.J. 12-43
